

PRESS REPORTS:

MOORE MARITIME INDEX SURVEY

Larger fleets do not always yield savings, says survey

The details provided by the Moore Maritime Index report said that the observations should be treated as 'preliminary' and it hopes to update the data with input from further companies

20 May 2020 | ANALYSIS

by Nigel Lowry | nigel@lowry.gr

The Moore Maritime Index report also suggests that larger companies tend to achieve better charter rates and there may be an 'optimal' fleet size for each sector

THE OPERATING EXPENSES ASSOCIATED WITH RUNNING A SHIPPING COMPANY DO NOT NECESSARILY BECOME SMALLER OR MORE COST EFFECTIVE BY HAVING THE BIGGEST POOL OF SHIPS.